THE THREE LITTLE COLOURS

by Karim and Yousef Fouladgar

Once upon a time, there lived three little colours that were the best of friends.

Their names were Red, Blue and Teal.
They never spent a moment without each other and always played together every day.

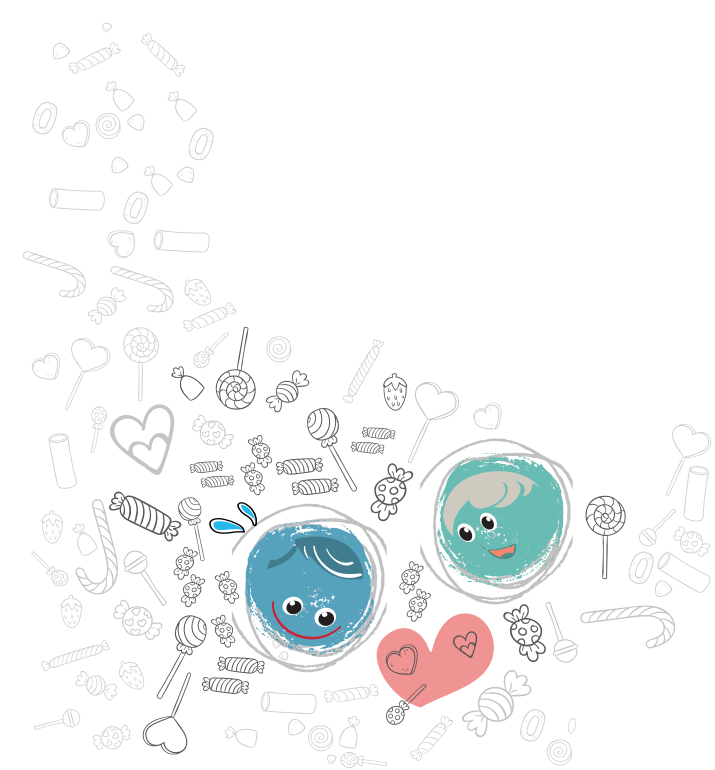

Then one day, they heard about a very important competition.
It was a race and they decided to participate in it.

So they ran as fast they could. Red won. Because Red was powerful. But Blue was sad that he lost and started crying. And Teal who never ran at all, felt sorry for him.

So he gave Blue a candy to cheer him up.

It worked. Blue stopped crying and they were all friends again.
